

Words Borrowed from French

canoe: A light, slender boat that has pointed ends and is propelled by paddles.

resent: To feel indignantly aggrieved at.

chef: A cook, especially the chief cook of a large kitchen staff.

envelope: A flat, folded paper container, especially for a letter.

coward: One who shows ignoble fear in the face of danger or pain.

pumpkin: a fruit widely associated with Halloween identity: The distinct personality of an individual regarded as a persisting entity, individuality plaque: A film of mucus and bacteria on a tooth's surface category: A specifically defined division in a system of classification, a class.

resume: A brief account of one's professional or work experience and qualifications trophy: A prize or memento, such as a cup or plaque, received as a symbol of victory satellite: An object launched to orbit Earth or another celestial body.

statue: A likeness sculpted, modeled, carved, or cast in material such as stone, clay or bronze.

massacre: The act of killing a large number of human beings indiscriminately and cruelly stethoscope: tool used by a doctor to hear a heartbeat turquoise: Color. A light to brilliant bluish green.

fortress: especially a large, permanent military fort that often includes a town.

aviation: The operation of aircraft.

rendezvous: A meeting at a rearranged time and place scandal: A publicized incident that brings about disgrace or offends moral sensibilities chauffeur: One employed to drive a private automobile pilot: One who operates or is licensed to operate an aircraft in flight retire: To withdraw from one's occupation, business, or office, stop working citizen: A person entitled by birth or naturalization to the protection of a state or nation.

pessimism: A tendency to stress the negative or unfavorable or to take the gloomiest possible view platform: a stage for public speaking or a landing alongside railroad tracks baton: A hollow metal rod with a heavy rubber tip that is twirled by a drum majorette republic: A political order in which elected officers represent the general public debris: The scattered remains of something broken or destroyed device: A contrivance or an invention serving a particular purpose

Words Borrowed From French

caffeine: a stimulant found in coffee emotion: a feeling: happy, sad etc.

gravity: The force of attraction exerted by a celestial body upon objects at or near its surface caramel: A smooth, chewy candy made with sugar, butter, cream or milk, and flavoring.

district: A division of an area, as for administrative purposes.

banquet: A ceremonial dinner honoring a particular guest or occasion.

coupon: a ticket or advertisement, that entitles the bearer to certain benefits pottery: Ware, such as vases, pots, bowls, or plates, shaped from moist clay and hardened by heat.

hotel: An establishment that provides lodging for travelers and other paying guests.

espionage: The act or practice of spying or of using spies to obtain secret information grenade: A missile designed to be thrown by hand or deployed by a specially equipped launcher blouse: A woman's or child's loosely fitting shirt that extends to the waist or slightly below patriot: One who loves, supports, and defends one's country.